To WA Dept.

My wife and I are asking that you reconsider the Greyhound Muzzle law requiring all Greyhounds in public wear a muzzle. I have never seen less need for a dog breed to wear a muzzle than for a Greyhound. I have adopted 3 of them, have been exposed to literally thousands of them at the former local track. They are by far the most placid and even tempered dogs I have ever been associated with. I have owned 12 different dog breeds that have been paired with my Greys and not once did a Greyhound ever show a sign of aggression. They have been around my grand children from infancy and I trust them 1000% around them and any child or strange animal. These dog have been victimized enough for the sake of profit. It's time they are treated as God intended, as loving and sweet pets that we nurture and love in return.

Dear Friend

Greyhounds are lovely gentle dogs, they love people and being made a fuss of. They will play happily with other dogs.

They are not savage killers out to ravage people and pets when taken for walks.

In fact a muzzled Greyhound is at risk of being injured precisely because it is muzzled, the dog cannot defend itself if another dog picks a fight, and if the dog has been attacked or upset while out and muzzled it causes severe psychological distress to put a muzzle on and take it out for a walk. Dogs are not stupid and an unmuzzled dog will spot a muzzled Greyhound and knowing it cannot defend itself will make the most of the opportunity to cause trouble and damage.

I have worked with a variety of dogs some of whom had to wear muzzles, and my own dog would root himself the spot when muzzled and not set foot outside until it was removed, he had been upset by dogs rushing up and nearly knocking him over. He could not control the other dog while wearing a muzzle and was terrified of being hurt or killed.

Of course owners have to take care that the dog does not cause damage to other dogs/people/animals, but the same can be said of any dog, even a small dog. If it is necessary for the dog to be muzzled because it is unsafe around small dogs and cats that is another matter.

Please, remove the muzzles from Greyhounds.

Kind regards

Subject: Muzzling of greyhounds!??
Date: Thursday, 18 July 2019 12:18:58 AM

To whom it may concern,

I have just heard that Australia requires the muzzling of greyhounds!!?? WHAT!!?? I am in utter shock and disbelief! I have been rescuing greyhounds from the cruel racing industry in the USA since 2003 and cannot believe this! I thought Australia was a forward thinking country!? What is going on here? Why in the world would you require a muzzle in public for the gentlest dog on the planet!!?? I truly do not understand this. Someone said maybe it was that they have a high prey drive and could be dangerous to other dogs... well, EVERY dog has a prey drive and can be dangerous to other dogs! My own greyhounds are friends with many small dogs, However, if a squirrel gets in my yard, they will give chase, but then again so will my best friend's dogs who are only 7 lbs each! So with that line of thinking, you would have to require muzzles in public for ALL DOGS!

Please come out of the dark ages Australia and educate yourself and your society about the gentle and kind greyhound. This is not a dog that should be required to wear a muzzle. I take my 3 greyhounds everywhere, including stores and parks, public events, etc... and everyone LOVES them! They have perfect manners, and this is inherent to their nature, it's not even something I've had to teach them!!

The only time that muzzles are appropriate is when they are being forced to race, and speaking of racing... please come out of the dark ages and BAN dog racing!! It is cruel and inhumane and I've seen far too much abuse, neglect, injury and even the death of these sensitive dogs in the 17 years I've been involved with greyhound rescue. There is no need for it. There are better ways for humans to entertain themselves. Dog racing is abusive and is about profit for the humans parasites who make money off of their suffering, and that is all. After these dogs are no longer profitable, they are disposed of in horrific ways and some very unfortunate dogs are even sent to China to be skinned and cooked alive in the dog meat trade. Unbelievable and Unacceptable. Dog racing is nothing more than subsidized dog abuse. It should be banned worldwide.

Again, as far as requiring greyhounds to be muzzled when in public, it's a ludicrous practice! Sadly, it is the gentle greyhound who most is at risk when coming in to contact with humans... not the other way around.

Other Australian jurisdictions have ended this requirement. Please amend the Dog Act to remove this language. When people see a greyhound with a muzzle, they are likely to think that greyhounds bite. This makes the breed less likely to be adopted.

I belong to Grey2K here in the US and have read about efforts in Australia to end the requirement that retired greyhounds wear muzzles in public. There is absolutely no reason for this law. Greyhounds are not vicious dogs, I know, I have had several and fostered many more. My 11 yo Golden Retriever is more dangerous than any Greyhound I have ever known. Please get rid of this law.

As a side note, I find it amusing that in Australia, a country with more species of poisonous snakes, spiders, scorpions, and insects than there are people in some places, that anyone is worried about getting bit by a pet dog.

To whom it may concern,

I understand the need to muzzle greyhounds while racing or training, but requiring them to wear muzzles while in public is misguided and misleads the public about this gentle breed.

I volunteer for a greyhound adoption group and have had two greyhounds. There has never been any need to muzzle my greyhounds in public, or for that matter, any of the retired racing greyhounds who have come through our adoption group, which is coming up on 500 greys adopted out.

Greyhounds are not considered a “dangerous” breed in the United States and can be adopted out to any rental property that allows dogs and they do not require special renters or homeowner’s insurance due to their good nature.

Time to change this law! The public needs to know what great companions these dogs are and how easy they are to live with as pets and this law misleads and hinders adoption.

To whom it may concern:

I understand that Western Australia still has a legal requirement for muzzling of all Greyhounds in public under the Dog Act. This is a most unpleasant and unfair form of breed discrimination and should be discontinued. Moreover, it is particularly wrong at a time when racing of Greyhounds is on the wane, resulting in many more of the dogs becoming available for adoption. The sight of a muzzled dog promotes a wrong impression of the dog as dangerously aggressive. Nothing could be further from the truth regarding the gentle breed, and this public image needs to be dispelled. Since there is no real public safety issue, and other states in Australia have already dropped the muzzle requirement, I urge that you give serious consideration to giving up the onerous requirement also. Greyhounds deserve to go to loving homes, and banishing the muzzle requirement will help that happen.

Dear Sir or Madam:

I am urgently requesting that your office amend the Dog Act to remove breed-specific language requiring sight hounds to be muzzled in public.

I am happy to say that I have shared my life with a Saluki for the past 6 years, and she is the sweetest, most gentle dog I have ever known, and would never hurt a fly (literally; she runs from bugs).

In my travels, I have met many people who have adopted greyhounds, and other sight hounds, and as we share experiences, it becomes clear that their dog is as much of a family member, and as calm and easy-going, as my Saluki is.

The tendency to stereotype dogs, the same way that we humans stereotype people of different backgrounds, serves no useful purpose and only divides us.

Hello,

I have had 3 greyhounds over the last 20 years and have never had an instance where any of my dogs were thought to be dangerous or unpredictable enough to warrant the use of a muzzle. In fact the opposite has been true. One was a therapy dog and the other two surely could have passed as well had I gone that route. All of my rescued from the track dogs have been raised with small children and are so patient and docile. All this is to say that I completely believe that the Dog Act must be reconsidered and remove the requirement of muzzeling of greyhounds in public.

Please stop the cruelty with these animals. Do you people not understand that they feel the same things that you do. What is it going to take???? People talk about being Humane..Well guess what, this is not Humane. The only difference between you and the greyhounds is you have 2 legs and they have 4. We are all animals and you really need to start thinking that way. Would you muzzle your child? These Greyhounds are just like children. They need to be protected and treated with love. Why is it that we 2 legged animals seem to take advantage of anything and anyone to make the all mighty dollar. We are the most dangerous creatures that has been placed on this earth. And that is a fact. Please stop this. Please stop the racing. Please stop killing these sweet animals.

Please Amend the Dog Act 1976

Thursday, 18 July 2019 12:00:11 AM

Please consider changing the rules regarding mandatory muzzling of greyhounds

CHANGES PROPOSED

- That the Dog Act 1976 be amended to remove the requirement for all greyhounds to be muzzled in public without the requirement to complete a training programme

SUMMARY

- There is no evidence to suggest that the compulsory muzzling of greyhounds provides any benefit to the community nor makes the community safer
- Western Australia's Dog Act is outdated and lagging behind the majority of other states who have already removed this requirement
- Globally, Northern Ireland is the only other country in the world that has compulsory muzzling laws
- Both the RSPCA and Australian Veterinary Association support the removal of compulsory muzzling laws
- The WA racing industry regulator, RWWA has also indicated they support the removal of this law
- Already over 4000 WA residents have signed petitions to support the removal of this law
- There is no evidence to suggest that by changing this law there would be any increase in incidents involving greyhounds

Be the change you want to see in the world - Ghandi

No More Greyhound Muzzling

Do you whom it may concern,

Greyhounds are one of the most gentle and loving large dog breeds around. They have been subjected to such cruel sport by forcing them to race and breeding them unnecessarily for this purpose. Please do not subject them to more cruelty by forcing them to be muzzled for no apparent reason. They are not known to be a violent dog breed in the least. There should be no reason to muzzle this breed when they are out in public. Please consider taking away this unnecessary regulation that serves no purpose. Please let greyhounds live a normal dog's life when they are finally able to join a family and live the true life they deserve to have.

Please repeal the law requiring Greyhounds to be muzzled in public. Muzzling while a group of hounds are running close to 40 miles an hour in close proximity is for their own protection. Greyhounds are the most gentle dog breed! They are not a threat to humans or other dogs!!! Chihuahuas, terriers and many other small dogs are most likely to bite humans and other dogs, but there are no cruel rules requiring them to be muzzled. Why is this rule in place for these gentlest of giants????

Sincerely,

Hello,

I would like to quickly and kindly ask that you please:

amend the Dog Act to remove misguided, breed-specific language requiring greyhound muzzling.

Thank you,

Hello!

This email is to ask you officials to amend the Dog Act to remove misguided, breed-specific language requiring greyhound muzzling. This is cruel and unnecessary in a so-called sport that is also cruel and unnecessary. These are gentle loving creatures deserving of our care and respect!

Sincerely,

Greyhound Muzzling

I just read that Western Australia required all adopted greyhounds to be muzzled! What morons started this and what morons agreed with it? Now what would help is if all those stupid people had to have a big "S" tattooed on their foreheads it would help identify them so they couldn't hide their stupidity!

Why would this be done? Greyhounds are a gentle, sweet breed and don't deserve this treatment. Regardless of the dog's temperament, a muzzle implies that a dog is dangerous and this is simply wrong. Please show some intelligence and get rid of this rule!
